

Inner Trade – Easement of Public Administration in the Period of Delivery to European Union

Silvia Elena CRISTACHE, University Lecturer Ph. D

Abstract: This paper characterizes the significant results of the trade activity as a result of the public administration political strategies implementation, considering the further accession to the European Union. Internal trade has experienced tremendous qualitative changes as improving the change procedures, payment procedures. Concerning the Romanian GDP distribution this is mainly used for consumption, five times more than the GDP use for investments.
