Abstract: For Romania, the institutional reconstruction of the public acquisitions must be a part of the general reconstruction process concerning the economic and social-human aggregates according to principles, rules and norms checked as viability within the human societies where the development is regarded as freedom and responsibility.

The defining elements of the institutional reconstruction related to the public acquisitions in our country during this period of intense structural transformations, can be placed under the roof of the European Union by means of the set of functional principles, legal norms and rules, through an adequate organizational system and through the management of the human and social-financial resources as well, able to manage, even during the crisis situations, the optimum level of the factors involving the major risks at the scale of the micro-system.
